- Thoughts around the Eight Amendment
 From Bishop Cullinan's Pastoral Letter "The little baby in the womb...shares the same humanity and human rights as all of us...the baby is alive and no one has the right, and can never have the right, to end this human life...The command of God is crystal clear-'You shall not kill'...
 Every life counts or no life counts. To deliberately take one life is to undermine respect for every human life. Our constitution protects mother and baby equally...Article 40.3.3 of our constitution is now the only defence against the ruthless introduction of the deliberated and awful taking of innocent human life...
 This referendum is about the kind of Ireland we want to live in. Will we continue to be a country that welcomes and protects all human life, born or unborn, mother and baby alike? Therefore I am voting NO"
- Last week's Parish Collection: Masses €359.31 and Envelopes €568.50. Thank you for your continued support.
